6	Sample Keywords	-	http://www.startupnation.com/Do-You-Prefer-To-Do-Business-with-People-You-Know/topic/	I agree with you all - people tend to - in general - see that those whom they know about will be able to deliver what they expect. However there is a growing tendency - may be LinkedIn is an example - to develop new connections and to also seek for newer partnerships.
4	Sample Keywords	-	http://siteownersforums.com/showthread.php?p=113977#post113977	Firstly you can leverage Social Media sites like Digg, Facebook, Twitter, MySpace, Delicious, etc. to get various people to visit your site. You can maintain a blog for your website to generate traffic. Another way is to optimize your site for search engines as well as build links for your site to get traffic. Please check out P2W2 link building services to learn more about this.
4	Sample Keywords	-	http://siteownersforums.com/t43556-how-does-page-rank-effect-traffic.html	Blogging and social media will drive traffic. If one needs target (specific) customers, then a higher page rank will be helpful.
6	Sample Keywords	-	http://www.startupnation.com/Which-section-/topic/	I feel that StartupNation is a great place for discussions for entrepreneurs. What I wanted to know is that if there is an event - such as a business get-together, webinar on a topic or strategy or a social event, can such things be posted here? I would be pleased if anyone could clarify on this. Thanks in advance.
3	Sample Keywords	-	http://www.webmasterforumsonline.com/forum_posts.asp?TID=15960&PN=1&TPN=1	MSN has improved search its features. The criteria for search indexing seems to be different from Google.

4	Sample Keywords	-	http://forums.digitalpoint.com/showthread.php?t=1843781	As far as this issue of search indexes - both Bing, and Yahoo! too on some occasions, seem to be showing searches differently; perhaps it is because they are removing some sites or it could be so because they use different search algorithm parameters. Either way, Google is showing more results.
